THE COPYRIGHT BILL PASSED.

Aside From This but Little Was Done in the House—The Indian Uprising Comes Up in the Senate—The Federal Election Bill Taken Up Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The house passed the bill referring the claim of the Cherokee Freedmen to the court of claims.

The copyright bill was called up, and, after a number of unimportant objections had been disposed of, the previous question was ordered—yeas 70, nays 73, and the house then adjourned.

The senate passed a resolution asking the secretary of war for information as to the steps taken to disarm Indians in Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota, and also a resolution instructing the foreign relations committee to inquire into the advisability of authorizing a cable to Hawaii.

Several minor measures were passed, and then the senate, by a party vote, 41 to 30, took up the Federal election bill.

At 2 o'clock, by another party vote, the senate laid aside the unfinished business and continued the reading of the bill.

At the conclusion of the reading the senate adjourned.

The bill provides for one additional member each for Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin, and for two additional members each for Illinois, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Texas, and for three additional members for Nebraska. The bill does not reduce the representation of any state.

The bill provides that representatives shall be elected by districts composed of territory contiguous, adjoining and compact, so that the distances from the central point of the district to the several boundaries of the district shall be as nearly equal as practicable. The population of no district is to be greater or less than the average population of the several districts by more than 8,000.

Secretary Blaine will deliver an address of welcome.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.

It Has Increased Over Six Million Dollars the Past Month.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The treasury department debt statement just issued shows an increase in the public debt during the past month of November amounting to $6,130,819. Unusually heavy payments during the month for civil and miscellaneous expenses, and large pension payments during November, account for the unusual statement of an increase instead of a decrease.

The bonded indebtedness of the government was reduced about $3,000,000 during the month, and now aggregates $889,492,300, against $892,388,300 on Nov. 1.

The surplus in the treasury today aggregates $50,044,125, against $67,805,063 a month ago, a decrease of nearly $18,000,000 since Nov. 1.

Government receipts from all sources during November past aggregated $8,986,134, against $10,716,867 in November, 1889. Custom receipts aggregated $15,227,681, against $16,014,188 during November, 1889; internal revenue receipts $11,322,017 against $11,159,060 during November a year ago.

RESCUED FROM A HOT[illegible]H.

A Family Fastened in Their Rooms and the Building Set on Fire.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Herman Katzey, his wife and six children were rescued from a horrible death by fire at the hands of an incendiary Monday night by Officer Farry, at [illegible] avenue. Late at night after the family had gone to bed, the incendiary tied a rope from the knob of the front door to a post near by. Kerosine was poured under the door. Two pop bottles filled with kerosine were placed close to the door on the outside and a match applied.

The flames caught the oil instantly and the blaze threatened the destruction of the house and its sleeping occupants. Officer Farry came around at that moment and burst open the door, and by lively work succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The members of the family were awakened by the noise and came down to learn the terrible fate they had escaped. It is believed that a fellow living in the vicinity had a disagreement Friday about the price of a cobbling, is the incendiary.

SAIL BOAT CAPSIZED.

One Woman and Three Men Drowned in a Florida Lake.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3.—By the capsizing of a sail boat on Lake Tohopekaliga, near Kissimee, on Saturday, four persons were drowned. They were Mrs. E. E. Turner, George Herbert, Frank L. Greene and Mr. Case, all of New Haven, Conn. The party clung to the capsized boat for some time, when Mr. Greene and Case attempted to swim ashore, but have not been heard from since.

Mr. Hines, one of the party, supported Mrs. Turner until she was drowned by the waves washing over the boat. He then removed his clothing and swam ashore, which he reached in an exhausted condition. He reached Kissimee Sunday and a steamer was sent out to search for the bodies. The wife and baby of Mr. Greene, and the father, mother and sister of Mr. Case are at Kissimee.

Run on a Bank Stopped.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—The run on the Keystone National bank, which was kept up all day Monday, and was resumed yesterday morning, practically collapsed at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the officers of the institution, and those who have stood behind it in the hour of its peril, are rejoicing over their victory. Twelve o'clock yesterday was the critical period, as at that hour it would be known whether the bank had passed safely through the clearing house. All its clearances were effected without a hitch and soon after that many depositors who had drawn out their funds redeposited them.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

A Meeting of the National Convention at Ocala, Fla.

ALMOST A FULL ATTENDANCE.

The Causes of Agricultural Depression Reviewed by the President in His Annual Address—Future Policy of the Alliance Outlined.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 3.—The National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial union met at noon yesterday. There was almost a full attendance. The proceedings were opened by the reading of President Polk's annual address. The address congratulated the Alliance on its achievements since the last meeting and then reviewed the causes of agricultural depression. The president declared that a depression is abnormal to the situation of industrial progress.

"Retrogression in American agriculture, he says, means National decay and powerful and promising as it has been in the past, yet its power and glory touch not the organization of the American farmer. The alarm incident to certain action of the money power and upbuilding of monopolies was then pointed out and both political parties were condemned for forging and encouraging this condition.

In outlining the future policy of the Alliance President Polk said that it will demand the restoration of silver to all the rights and qualities of legal tender, which gold possesses; the issuance of government currency direct to the people, examination of taxes; prohibition of alien ownership of land, ownership and control of transportation lines by the government, limit of public revenues to the economical administration of the government; graduated taxation of incomes and the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

The president urged that additional organizers be sent at once to Oregon, Washington, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Arizona and other states. Among his recommendations was one that an organization be formed to be known as the national legislature, composed of the national president and the presidents of all the Alliances, their duty being to look after legislative reform demanded by the Alliance both in state legislation and congress. He deprecated sectionalism and closed with an eloquent appeal for National harmony.

When President Polk had concluded the convention resolved itself into a sort of "love feast," during which C. A. Power, a Union soldier from Indiana, moved that all ex-soldiers in the hall would respond to the sentiments expressed in the speeches with reference to the burial of sectionalism rife up to be counted. Between forty and fifty men stood up and the wildest enthusiasm. Some one suggested that three cheers be given for the ex-Confederates in the Alliance, and they were given with a will. Then the Confederates took their innings and cheered the ex-Union soldiers to the echo. The cheers ended with a wild rebel yell.

The convention then adjourned.

A public meeting of the National Farmers Alliance was held in the afternoon in the opera house. About 1,200 persons were present. President Rogers, of the Florida Alliance, presided. Governor Fleming welcomed the delegates. Hon. John F. Dunn, a prominent speaker for the United States senate, which followed the governor in a brief address. President Polk, of the Texas Alliance, delivered an able and eloquent report of victory for the Alliance at the ballot box in 1892. This sentiment was cheered to the echo by the delegates. All the speakers predicted the general prevalence within a short time of the ideas embodied in the Alliance platform adopted at Ocala.

The first business session of the Alliance was held last night. The session was secret as will be all those that follow. Eighty-eight delegates were present. In addition to the delegates there are ten or twelve persons entitled to vote, which brings the numerical strength of the body up to one hundred. California, New Mexico and Oklahoma are entitled to representation, but as yet no delegates have arrived from these places. Among the delegates are five women. Mrs. Vickery, vice president of the Kansas Alliance, being of the number. Besides the delegates there are 65 visiting Alliance men from outside the state, and all of these can attend the deliberations of the council.

The conduct of Dr. Macune, editor of The National Economist, is likely to be investigated, and may prove a bombshell on the declarations of the Alliance. It is charged that Dr. Macune has violated the policy of the Alliance in his advocacy of the Conger lard bill, in his opposition to the Paddock pure food bill, in his endorsement of Speaker Reed's rulings, and finally in his characterizing tariff reform as the "gaunt, starved ghost of secessionism and disunion."

In an interview Dr. Macune admitted that he had hard things to be brought against him, but was of the opinion that no charges would be preferred before the council. The close of secretary Colquitt's report declared that no such charges would be brought against him, and if they were those bringing them were likely to get hurt.

The Economist is the official organ of the Alliance and is owned by a stock company. Dr. Macune was chosen editor by the Alliance at its last annual meeting.

Dr. Tillman, of Tennessee, the senatorial hopeful, in a speech last night that the organization of a new political party would be premature. He said he would prefer to see the democratic party [illegible] question with [illegible] to the distribution of State Alliances for individual action.

Statistician Ruth says that he has not prepared an official report, but has a large amount of data and the principal conclusion [illegible] the average [illegible] cancellation [illegible] such cases [illegible] votes. There will be present [illegible] delegates.

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The signal office weather crop bulletin for December reports as follows for the month of November generally throughout all districts east of the Mississippi, states north of the Missouri river, and in the west Gulf states, the only [illegible] in excess of precipitation for the month being the middle eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, including Montana, Idaho territory, Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

An excess of rain was also reported from a number of stations in the lower lake region. Although less than the normal amount of rain fell in the states north of the Ohio river and in the upper Mississippi valley, the rainfall in these regions was abundant, generally exceeding one inch. The month was unusually dry throughout the gulf and Atlantic states, over which regions not more than one fourth of the usual rainfall occurred.

At the close of the month snow was reported on the ground generally throughout Michigan, northern Ohio, northwestern Ohio and northern Minnesota.

The weather has been generally favorable for farm work throughout the principal agricultural regions of the central valleys. The northwest and southwest have also enjoyed favorable weather, and an unusually large acreage of fall plowing has been completed, and pasturage and winter wheat are reported as still growing and in fine condition.

A LIFE SENTENCE COMMUTED

John Harter, Sent Up for Life From Jefferson County in 1882 for Murder in the Second Degree, Will Be Released in Six Years—Other State Dispatches.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3.—Governor Campbell has in accordance with the recommendation of the pardon board commuted to twenty years' imprisonment the life sentence of John Harter, who was convicted of murder in the second degree in Jefferson county in 1882. With the time gained by good behavior he will have about six years yet to serve.

It is believed that Isaac Smith, the Pike county murderer, will be released. Guy Fowler, the principal witness in the case against Smith was subjected to a long examination by Governor Campbell last week, and he was afterward taken to the penitentiary annex where he was faced by Smith who endeavored to make him retract his statement that Smith had made a confession of murder to Fowler. Between Smith and his attorneys Fowler became badly mixed.

Mills was arrested with Jim Black and the notorious George Blackburn soon after the murder. Black and Mills were released for want of evidence. Blackburn is still in jail. Black has not yet been rearrested, but will be soon. Lee has served a term in the penitentiary. The matter is now before the grand jury. The officers think they have the right parties this time, including Blackburn.

She became infatuated with a young railroader, named J. F. Sligar, and they were married Thanksgiving Day. She forged the name of Mrs. H. M. Rhoades for $50 to purchase her wedding outfit. She was the guest of Mrs. Rhoades and the couple were arrested while on their wedding trip.

After gaining their confidence he borrowed $90 to replenish his stock of medicine, leaving a worthless gift for security. A couple of years ago the same sufferers were bunkoed out of $600 by lightning rod people, but refused to prosecute the swindlers.

Biros declined to make an explanation.

THE [illegible] NOT STARVING.

A Letter From Special Census Agent of the Sioux Indians.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Acting Commissioner Belt has received the following letter from Special Agent Lea, appointed to take the census of the Sioux Indians:

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. Dak., Nov. 3, 1890.

As there are many stories afloat, and being transmitted to the interior department from this agency in regard to the present troubles, assigning as a cause the suffering of the Indians for want of food, I thought the department would not consider it presumptious upon my part to volunteer a brief statement of the facts as I have found them to exist in regard to their subsistence.

In the first place, the department is fully aware of the nature of my work, which takes me into each house and habitation occupied by the Indians, thus giving me a splendid opportunity to make observations; and, I assure you, I have not been slow to do so, and especially as to how the Indians live and what they live upon; and, I say now, that I have to see the first family upon Pine Ridge reservation that showed the least sign of suffering from want of food.

In order to ascertain what they subsist upon, and what they rely upon for subsistence, I ask the question, "what means of support have you besides your rations?" If the answer should be, "none," I then ask: "Are the rations you draw from the government sufficient for your subsistence," and I have never had a family to complain and say, "none." And not in the first single instance has an Indian, who is reliable and intelligent, complained to me of suffering among their people. It has only been a few weeks since one mixed blood woman, having six in her family, told me that they had all the provisions that they could use, and that if the people generally would take care of their rations in a careful manner, as she did, they would really have more than they could use.

Now as to their habit of cooking and eating. When they get up in the morning, a pot is put over the fire and filled with meat. As soon as it is cooked enough to eat, all who are present begin eating and never stop until so full they can eat no longer. When the meat is cleaned out of the pot, it is re-filled, and as often as they feel like it they eat. Every neighbor or friend who calls in has a large dish of meat set before he or she, which is invariably eaten. The coffee pot rarely gets cold. With their meat they invariably have bread of some kind. Those who are the most gluttonous in their natures, eat up their rations often a day or two before issue day, but they never go hungry. They know who the more provident are, and live off of them until rations day.

Now, when I know these facts so well, I assert that in my judgment, hunger has nothing to do with the present trouble upon Pine Ridge reservation. It looks to me, viewing the question in an impartial light, that the whole trouble has been brought on by the old bucks, who begin to become restless, partly from idleness, partly from a desire to regain their influence over the people, and partly from undue influence of designing whites, but largely from inexplicable causes. (Parenthetically, I might add, pure cussedness). The main leaders in the present trouble are men who have been recognized as "big chiefs" in days gone by, but not so recognized now. Yet they think they see in this movement an opportunity to regain their lost titles.

The Indians, half breeds and squaw men upon this reservation own many hundred head of cattle, which would be mercilessly slaughtered if hunger was the cause of the trouble. As it is, rarely a cow is slaughtered without the consent of the agent, and the animal proved to be incapable of reproduction.

INDIAN SITUATION.

The War Department's Latest Dispatches from the Frontier.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The war department has received several dispatches about the Indian situation. The situation as a whole is not quite so favorable as it was last week, but on the contrary troops have been massed at the most dangerous points and are in sufficient number to suppress any outbreak that may occur.

All rumors to the effect that the interior department and war department are not in accord on the policy adopted to work trouble with the Indians, is disapproved by war department officials. The policy is to use all means short of violence to bring about quiet as speedily as possible, but to have quiet even at the rifle's mouth. The details of this policy are left to General Miles and Roger [illegible] arranging it they are empowered [illegible] as they think are [illegible] and to select the time and place for such arrests. If in their judgment the arrest of offending Indians at this time would be more likely to cause further irritation, they are at liberty to defer such arrests until they think the end sought for restoration, if quiet can be attained by action on their part.

No doubt exists that Sitting Bull will be arrested, but the opportune time for it is left to Gen. Miles' discretion.

Gen. Miles left for the west yesterday afternoon.

AT HEADQUARTERS.

An Important Telegram Received from the Pine Ridge Agency.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—An important telegram was received yesterday morning at the army headquarters from Gen. Brooke, who is in command at the Pine Ridge agency. It was quite lengthy and was immediately repeated to Gen. Miles, who left Washington yesterday morning for Chicago.

Gen. Williams declined to give out more than an abstract of the telegram, which was to the effect that "a number of Rosebud Indians with some from Pine Ridge agency and some from the Lower Brule and Standing Rock agencies are gathered to the number of 600 on White river, above the mouth of Wounded Knee, and these Indians are very defiant." That the situation in the northwest is critical is evident from the fact that the employes about army headquarters have been instructed not to absent themselves from their desks without special leave.

Four Troop of Cavalry Sent West.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 3.—A special to The Star from Leavenworth, Kan., says: A special train conveying four troop of cavalry left here yesterday for Fort Meade. There were 250 men and the same number of horses. An officer recently ordered to the front writes to friends here that he discovers nothing alarming in the Indian situation except the newspaper specials from that part of the country.

One Boy Brains Another.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 3.—At Black Hawk, near here, yesterday John Hargar, a 17-year-old boy, quarreled with a companion named Wiley Cook and struck him with an iron bar, killing him instantly. A posse is in pursuit of Hargar, who has a very bad reputation, having been in jail several times for robbery.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the mucous nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

THE Mansfield News has discovered one thing more expensive than potatoes. Gold is worth $600,000 per ton.

OHIO will have the same number of congressmen under the new apportionment as in the last decade—twenty one. We should have a Tammany to kick on Ohio's census reports.

A LATE telegram from Cincinnati brings the news that ex-Congressman Isaac Jordan, the noted attorney and a widely known person, was killed this morning by falling down an elevator.

THE State Board of Equalization met in Columbus Tuesday and organized. there is a hint current that Marion county may receive attention. Though there was great a deal of kicking about Marion city's appraisement being too high, there are a good many who think it entirely too low when compared to farm valuation. The atmosphere of this city would likely be very blue in the event of the State Board making any such raise.

Quinn Chapel Literary Society.

The usual interest was manifested among the colored people Tuesday night that always is when the Quinn Chapel Literary Society announces a meeting. The special features of Tuesday night's entertainment were a solo and debate. The solo, a comic song, was rendered by Thomas Phez, who is renowned as a singer among his colored brethren. He won applause from all and acquitted himself so well that his name will always be required to make the programs of that society complete. The subject debated on, "Resolved, that woman's influence on civilization is greater than man's," was won by the affirmative, and the victory was due in many respects to the able argument of David Archy who handled that side of the question. Nelson Young made a strong argument for the negative. The next meeting is to be held on Tuesday of next week. James Winkfield was appointed sergeant-at-arms, and given power to act and use his authority as he saw fit in the control of these meetings. Shiney Eye's popularity in the society made him the proper person to bestow this honor upon and it is needless to say that he will do the office justice.

A Valuable Pointer.

The Mansfield Shield and Banner thus speaks a truth: It delights the hearts of the newspaper boys to find a record of marriage license issued from the probate court and marked don't publish. They get right down on it with both feet, publish the names and date, trim up the groom (and often the bride), give all the particulars, guess at a great many more, and then call attention to the fact that the silly-noodled, com-swoggled, duck-legged driver from the slashes didn't want it published. Young man, when you go to commit matrimony and don't want the facts knows, don't mark the record 'do n't publish." Let her go, and then call on the editors, set up the ten cent cigars and turtle, subscribe for the paper, pay a year in advance, tell the editor he has the best looking wife in the county, and then ask him to keep your marriage quiet a few weeks It'll work seven days in the week.

THE MARRIAGE VOW.

ST PAUL'S CHURCH THE SCENE OF A TRULY BRILLIANT WEDDING

Harry R. Young and Miss Mary Denney at the Marriage Altar, Before a Splendid Audience and Attended in Charming Style Reception at the Home of Mr. and Mrs Denney.

A wedding of unusual brilliance and beauty was that celebrated at St. Paul's church today at high noon, the high contracting parties being Miss Mame, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Denney, and Mr Harry R Young, the popular and efficient clerk of courts. Before the hour for the ceremony arrived, the church was filled to overflowing. Promptly at the appointed time, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the groom with his best man, Mr. Sidney Young, emerged from the vestry and at the altar awaited the coming of his bride

The bridal procession was extremely beautiful. First came the little flower girl, Lucretia Patten, who very gracefully untied the ribbons admitting the bridal party. Next came the four handsome ushers, Messrs. P. E. Donbaugh, F. H. Tristram, Henry Strelitz and J. E. Phillips. Following them walked the four lovely maids clad in the sweetest imaginable gowns of cream crepe de chene, gracefully trailing in a demi train, half veils and carrying vellum prayer books, souvenirs from the groom. Miss Clara Johnston, maid of honor and cousin of the bride, came alone, attired in a soft clinging Grecian robe of white, wearing a half veil and in her hand carried the bouquet of bride roses. Last came the bride, looking fair and beautiful, leaning on the arm of her father. Her dress was simply an ideal wedding gown, pure heavy cream white satin, which fell in graceful folds trailing far behind her, the front of the dress being enveloped in a crepe lisse flounce, heavily embroidered in cream white silk. The bodice was semi-decollete, ornamented with rare old point lace, and around her neck was clasped a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom. She wore white satin slippers, long gloves met the sleeves, and carried a white prayer book. The misty veil completely enveloped her and was fastened to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms.

Rev. James Donehoo preformed the ceremony in a very impressive manner while the organ softly breathed "Call me thine own." After the vows had been plighted the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride where a reception followed for the immediate friends and relatives. After receiving congratulations a handsome collation was served, and the bride and groom left on the 1.45 train for a honeymoon in the East. Mr. and Mrs. Young will be at home to their friends on Wednesdays in January. Among the guests from abroad were Miss Sapp, Miss Cooper and Miss Updegraff, of Mt. Vernon, and Miss Gormley, of Bucyrus, all of whom served charmingly as bridesmaids; Mrs. E. B. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Gormley and Clark Gormley, of Bucyrus.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Denney the reception showed a brilliant gathering of ladies in most elegant attire.

The brief description of them is given below:

Mrs. John Denney, mother of the bride, black lace.

Mrs. Isaac Young, mother of the groom, black silk, with natural flowers.

Mrs. Joseph Johnston, black silk, with jet trimmings.

Mrs Gormley, lavender crepe, with of duchess lace.

Mrs Finley, light blue crepe de chene with ostrich trimmings.

Mrs. George Bedrick, blue broadcloth dress, with hat to match.

Mrs C. B. Kling, dark green velvet, with natural flowers.

Miss Wallace, gray crepe de chene, with steel trimmings.

Mrs. Florence Kling, gray crepe de chene, with gold trimmings.

Mrs. Maggie Patten, gray crepe de chene, steel trimmings

Mrs. P. L. Johnston, combination of green silk, brocaded.

Miss Wiant, black lace, with natural flowers.

Mrs. W. I. Second black lace

Miss Collins black velvet

Miss Jessie Harshbarger, black lace.

Miss Johnston, gray Henrietta

The presents bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Young comprised a very large and elegant array that was much admired. They were in receipt, too, of many telegrams of congratulations

Examining Doctor (to grad.)—What do you know of differential calculus?

Deep silence.

"Well, then, tell us something of the binomial theorem."

Still deeper silence on the part of the graduate.

Are often too ill to labor, but they haven't time to take medicine and lay off. Simmons Liver Regulator can be taken without causing any loss of time, and the system will be built up and invigorated by it. Sudden Deaths.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden death, which in three out of four cases is unsuspected. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, back or shoulder, irregular pulse, asthma, weak and hungry spells, wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or dropsy, oppression, dry cough and smothering. Dr. Miles' illustrated book on heart disease at Denison & Co. and Huberman & Co., who sell and guarantee Dr. Miles' unrivaled New Heart Cure, and his Positive Nervine, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opiates.

CATARRH

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed.

CATARRH

"I will say I have been troubled for several years with that terribly disagreeable disease catarrh. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the very best results. The Only Case on Record

A curious surgical case is presented by Henry Dunn, of [illegible]. He suffers from aneurism of the [illegible] and his is the only case of the kind reported by physicians. He has received many letters inviting him to appear before medical colleges, so they can examine and study aneurism of the orbit, but as he fears it cut the blood vessel back of the orbit may burst at any moment and thus end his life he has preferred to remain under the care of surgeons at home.

Breen was a car repairman on the Wabash railroad, and while engaged in coupling cars at Creal, O., he was caught between the steps of the caboose and the end of a sawlog which he extended over a flat car, and his skull was fractured. After a long and painful illness he rallied sufficiently to walk about, but it was found that the cords of the left eye were paralyzed and refused to perform their natural functions. The affliction grew worse and Mr. Breen went to Springfield, Ill., where the Illinois surgeons were holding their annual convention. He was examined by 125 surgeons, who pronounced his case "the strangest of the eye," and the only one on record.

He was put under the influence of opiates and an iron collar was placed about his neck, to which was attached a thumb screw which was pressed over the orbit to stop the rush of blood. He was thus kept for forty-eight hours, but his case was pronounced incurable. He is now at his home in Fort Wayne. Breen is a man of strong muscular development, and would appear to have more than the average man's chances for longevity. He is not disposed to be melancholy over his condition, and says that he may outlive the entire Springfield convention. "At any rate, he has a strange distinction of being the only man alive who wears a collar made at a blacksmith shop.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Boys Worry a Chestnut Vender.

The life of the chestnut and peanut vender is a hard one, especially when the street arabs of tough but tender years band together and swoop upon him in serried array and compact mass. A specimen of the "stately bundle" order stood before his caldron warming his five digits and nursing the glowing chestnut when a band of young urchins sallied by. One gave a quick kick at the stand as they passed, which made it totter. The Italian in charge made an effort to save it, but it went sprawling tossing out the luscious nuts upon the street. This was the grand strategic effect sought for by the urchins, as it put the vender in a hesitating position.

If he chased the boys he left the stand, and if he went to the stand he left the nuts. The vender hesitated a moment, and the little band of young arabs waited to see what he would do, prepared to scatter into complete indefiniteness. The vender chose to look to his stand, and his doing so was a signal to the youngsters. Like crows to the prey they swooped down upon the nuts in triumph, and with howls and hoots filled their pockets to the full, paying little heed to the forceful ejaculations of the vender.—New York Times.

A Deer on the Track.

While extra train No. 671 was coming east Sunday afternoon a few miles east of Mast Hope, on the Delaware division Engineer Edward Taylor espied a large deer descending the almost perpendicular bluff on the north side of the track. The deer reached the track a few yards in advance of the engine, and those on the engine expected to see it run down, but instead it started down the track in advance of the train for a distance of a quarter of a mile, and then bounded down the bank toward the river. The men on the engine saw the deer until the train went out of sight. It was a buck with five prongs, and must have weighed in the neighborhood of 500 pounds. It seemed to be greatly fatigued, and was probably started up by a party of hunters in the heavy woods back of Mast Hope. Taylor and his fireman confidently expected to have a saddle of venison for their Thanksgiving dinner.—Port Jervis (N. Y.) Gazette.

The Farm Tools.

It would seem as if, after years of good counsel on the subject, some farmers would at least take the hint and look after the farm tools—particularly after the season's work is done; but it will require a good deal of preaching from the text before "conversion" is accomplished. So one would think who rides far in almost any direction this time of the year. Mowers and horse rakes still out in the fields, plows astride a rail fence, harrows leaning up against trees—these are some of the not uncommon objects which one may see on some farms. Get them in, give a coat of paint where needed, and save dollars.—Independent

Wonders of the Deep.

Carl Boentjen, of Astoria, has on exhibition a marine curiosity. It consists of an ordinary seaweed some 20 feet in length, and at the lower end the cluster of roots has a firm hold of an aggregation of marine shells several pounds in weight. These shells are occupied by a curious inhabitant that has a beak that resembles a chicken's, only it is divided perpendicularly instead of horizontally. —San Francisco Call.

Better Than They Expected.

Some men who had lost an anchor near Lubec, in the town of Eastport, Me., grappled for it the other day and thought they had it. They managed to get it ashore and upon the beach, when their prize proved to be not the anchor, but the mast of a whale. Startling Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hoenig, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' great Restorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Tailor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. SHAKESPEARE

Said something about like this:—

PUT MONEY IN THY PURSE

It is the task that everybody is at, though all do not succeed. It is not much trouble to get it, but the difficulty is to get it in the purse to accumu ate. We can help you. Everybody is selling or talking about selling very cheap. We actually do it, sell so that you can save money. We realize the disappointments of a slow season, and, though we have done a handsome business, we want to blear off a heavy stock while it is still seasonable. When we say we are giving exceedingly low prices we mean it, as a long and straightforward business career here has attested.

$10.00—On every $10 00 purchase we will actually save you enough to buy a really handsome Christmas gift, and we have, too, some very practical and acceptable gifts to sell.

—Will Stose will celebrate his birthday Saturday evening by giving a banquet at the Busy Bee to his friends, Sam Oppenheimer, Jr., Sherman Shultz, Earl Lee, and Frank Keiler, who spent the summer with him at Lakeside.

—A pleasant social was held at the home of Charles Miller, in West Marion, Tuesday night. About sixty persons were present. Games and music were the order of the evening. A delicate lunch was served after which all returned to their homes.

—There is a proposed change of officers on the Erie. A new president, superintendent, and some probable changes made on this division. Just who they will be and the offices that will be changed is not as yet known, but it is expected that it will be known this week.

—The 22d annual session af the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' Association will be held in Carey, December 30th and 31st. The programs for both days are unusually attractive and the session will undoubtedly be instructive and entertaining.

DR. JAMES HEDLEY.

The Third Entertainment of the Irving-Longfellow Course a Pleasant Success.

The third entertainment of the Irving-Longfellow course of the season, given at Music Hall Tuesday evening by Dr. James Hedley, was a notable success as a lecture, and highly enjoyed by a good sized audience.

Dr. Hedley is a brilliant man, a racy, eloquent and entertaining speaker, an inimitable impersonator and a refined humorist. He spoke for an hour or over on "The Sunny Side of Life," and in that time apparently lifted the audience above the petty inconveniences and annoyances of human affairs. He argued that happiness was of the heart and not influenced by the exterior, that contentment was happiness itself That people who were forever looking for the Utopian land never would be happy.

The lecture was a practical one from beginning to close. It hit hard the ramroddy, long-faced style of christianity and slapped sham society in the face. The Doctor's thoughts, thorough and original, were illustrated by unique stories, admirably told. He was well received by the audience, which kept an almost constant ripple of laughter going through the hall, and at the close was heartily applauded.

It is possible that the lecture was the most profitable and enjoyable entertainment of the course, full of excellent thought and instruction.

Horses for Sale.

I have brought to this county 21 head of good Montana driving horses, which are now for sale, at the Heffleman farm two miles north of Marion, where they will remain until all are sold. Some of the horses are broke to drive and are easily handled. Will be sold cheap. Call and see them.

Knights of Honor, Attention.

A very full attendance of all members is desired on Thursday night, promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Besides the regular election of officers, there is other important business to attend to

J. G. TREFZ, Dictator.

—The Upper Sandusky Union gets off this one on Findlay: A man at Findlay the other day took down the mail sack which was suspended on a crane, and hung himself there instead, so that he would not get left. When the fast mail came along and the route agent put out his catcher and hauled in the man instead of the mail bag, the fellow, in short breath, said: "I've been left too many times by this narrow guage road and I don't intend to get left any more, if it kills me or this infernal old road."

—In Al Henderson's barber shop today was a prospective groom who was to be married this afternoon, accompanied by his brother-in-law. Both were so drunk that they could hardly keep their places in the barber chairs, and those in the shop were unanimous in the opinion that the soon-to-be groom should have been hit in the head with a club rather than be in preparation for marriage. It was a disgusting scene.

—Jim Powell, a youth of 14 years, a bright but bad little fellow, was arrested the other evening and locked up for loitering. He is still confined in a cell to await some action of those interested in him, and he will probably be sent to the reform farm.

—The C. and E. and Erie officials have issued an order for the purpose of stopping all free riding between the junction and the Erie depot, making the fare 10 cents each way. Employes at the junction now walk up town or put up for their ride.

—Our home-made brand mince meet is made with extra care from selected raisins, currents, citron, etc. Try it and you will use no other.

The city council met at the engine house Tuesday night according to adjournment, to make a formal examination and receive explanations in regard to the two fire alarm systems—the Gaynor and the Gamewell—now on exhibiton at that place.

Webster Chandlee, of the Gamewell Co. of New York, and George Turner, of this city, representing the Gaynor system, were present with their machines and made explanations of the workings and possible advantages of the two and the salient points of interest.

Council adjourned to meet next Monday evening, for the especial purpose of considering the purchase of a system of fire alarm.

There is an apparent favorable feeling toward such a purpose, without much opposition among members of council, at least so far as developed.

CHEAP!

Is the tempting sauce served with poor dinners, also with mean clothing, and it tempts many men to cheat their bellies and their backs. All who have worn my clothing are convinced that the best is the cheapest. I want to talk to you a little on Tailor-made Suits and Overcoats. There is no earthly excuse for shabbiness. It costs more to go in rags than to dress decently. Shabbiness is a "Luxury." To indulge in it is to lose one's own self-respect and that of one's friends. War Preceding War.

[Columbus Dispatch.]

The transportation of 100 recruits from Columbus Barracks to the West is quite an event in passenger circles, and this is why the C. H. V. and T. passenger department were proud today that their Buckeye Route secured the detachment. An order received here at seven o'clock Saturday night from the secretary of War that all available recruits be sent West on account of the Indian troubles made it necessary to get them out in short order. It was the Pan Handle's turn in the pooling of passenger business from the Barracks but the officers at the Garrison claimed the time of the train was not just suited and this hitch gave the Hocking Valley people an opportunity of which they immediately took advantage. A special train was quickly offered, to leave at 10 a. m. Sunday, immediate transfer to the Chicago and Northwestern at Chicago for Valentine, Neb., was assured and the business was captured. The special made the run to Marion, 46 miles, in an hour and twenty minutes and at Chicago four tourist sleepers were provided for the comfort of the party for the remainder of the trip.

—Turney's time.

—Look at the window and make your guess.

—Buy your Christmas handkerchiefs at Warner & Edwards'.

—Free tickets on the "Doll Bride" at the Marion Bazar, on Saturday next.

—Holiday opening and marriage scene at the Marion Bazar, Saturday next. wealth.

—One unconscious and crazy drunk was locked up Tuesday evening and spent the night in a cage at the city prison.

—Look at the handkerchief window at Warner & Edwards' and guess at the number in the window. $500 worth of goods presented to the lucky person.

—Ladies of Marion will please remember that Mrs. C. P. Gailey is prepared to supply them with stamping, embroidery silks, stamped linens, etc.

—The carpenters are busy at the C. and E. eating house repairing and remodeling the dining room, and the painters are making other parts of the house look bright. Mr. Breen has arrived and is overseeing the work.

Good Things in Silverware.

The novelties and nice things that are seasonable and up to the times are never sold except in the regular way—at a profit that enables the dealer to live. That is the way we sell them, and the simply elegant line that we have opened for holiday trade is made up of desirable goods that we expect to close out daily. We desire the people of Marion to look over our display, jewelry and silverware, and get the nice and desirable things just as cheap as they can be sold.
